The above materials contain trade secrets and proprietary information not customarily released to the public.

The Payment Card Industry (www.pcisecuritystandards.org) has strict requirements, that Payment Express Limited adheres to, to prevent terminals from being disabled or not returned.

If such an incident does occur response plans are put into place as well as an assessment of the risk of the breach.

The terminals are designed to not be easily disassembled and the terminal will always delete any critical software if this is attempted, making it clear and easy to detect if a security breach has occurred.

The Contract that Payment Express has with customer's requires adherence to PCI Standards which state that terminals shall not be disassembled and shall be kept in a secure manner.

The terminal is immediately returned to Payment Express whenever use is finished.

The Customer contract states:

“7.6 Consequences of termination: On the termination of this Agreement, you must immediately:

a) return all Payment Express Limited Products to Payment Express Limited;”

The applicant understands that pursuant to Section 0.457 of the Rules, disclosure of this application and all accompanying documentation will not be made before the date of the Grant for this application.
